

Introduction

As the impact of the economic downturn, and the dwindling public finances from the credit crunch, hit public services in the UK, there is a growing pressure, that all of us will experience, of reducing funding over the coming years, and possibly longer.

Over the years we have provided support to people in a way that has, at times, been a barrier to them gaining independence and fully contributing to their community. In the current climate a number of questions to consider are:

- How do we develop alternatives to just paid support for people?
- How do we continue to develop individually designed services at a time of reduced formal support?
- How do we stay true to our values and principles whilst moving forward?

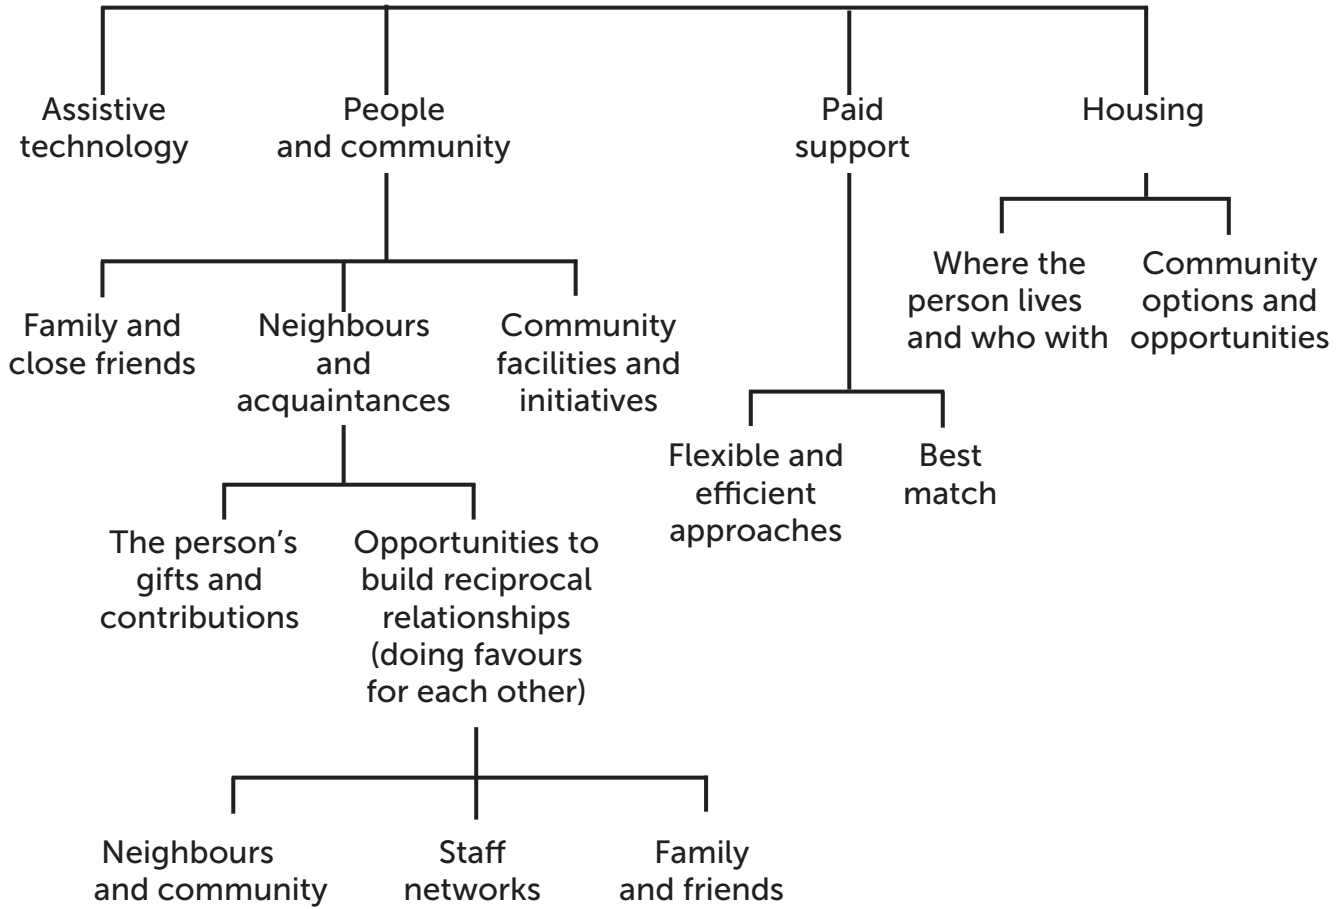

Providing enough support is a complex process that requires different thinking. Using this workbook in partnership with others is one way to move forward.

One page profile

The worksheet is titled "One page profile" and is enclosed in a large rounded rectangle. It contains four smaller rounded rectangular boxes for writing:

- Me: A small box in the top-left corner.
- What people like and admire about me...: A box in the top-right corner.
- What's important to me...: A large box in the bottom-left corner.
- How best to support me...: A large box in the bottom-right corner.
